

Wild Women of Newport County Celebrated

Posted: Monday, June 15, 2015 3:18 pm

On Thursday, June 4th, the Women's Resource Center serving Newport and Bristol Counties honored twelve local women as "Wild Women of Newport County." This event highlighted the contributions of the following local women who have contributed in positive ways to our communities:

Terri Conners – Executive Director of NewportFILM

Bari Freeman - Executive Director of Bike Newport

Cecilia Heredia – Musician and Educator at St. Philomena School in Portsmouth

Nan Heroux – Board Member for the Rhode Island Coalition Against Gun Violence

Veronica Hobbs – Director of the Domestic Violence Training & Monitoring Unit for the RI Supreme Court

Colleen Burns Jermain – Superintendent of Newport Schools

Victoria Johnson – Teacher, Coach, and Educational Administrator

Amy Rice – Principal Attorney for the Law Office of Amy G. Rice, LLC

Carol Ryan – Northwestern Mutual and Women's Resource Center Committee Member

Emily Sack – Professor of Law at Roger Williams University School of Law

M. Christie Smith – Executive Director of Potter League

Lynne Tungett – Editor and Publisher of Newport This Week

Wild Women of Newport County Celebrated

Photo courtesy of Women's Resource Center serving Newport and Bristol Counties